Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11, 1905.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,400

Place a gun in the hands of a know-it-all and you know the result, a funeral.

There will be some junk for sale in the China Sea after Togo and Rodjestyevsky are separated.

The Baptists and the Congregationalists will not fight, just because the former had no hesitancy in accepting a $100,000 check from John D. Rockefeller and the latter had qualms over it. The difference in their positions may be partially accounted for by the fact that Rockefeller has been a constant contributor to the missionary activities of the Baptist church with which denomination he is connected. The check to the Baptists, however, comes at rather an embarrassing stage of the discussion, and another for the same amount, following in rapid succession, rather heightens the effect.

It does seem to be conclusive evidence that the second class license is a good paying one, from the fact that there are eight applications for that class privilege in Montpelier, two by holders of a similar license last year and one by a former commissioner. Then, too, the Montpelier Journal contends that the second class privilege will be particularly valuable this year because nearly all Washington county is "dry." The license commissioners evidently had these things in view when they raised the price of the second class to the maximum amount, $1,500. The commissioners in Ludlow have the same views, perhaps; they have raised the cost of the second class license to the maximum amount.

DISCIPLINE IS REQUIRED.

"Discipline at the Post must be maintained," says the commandant at Fort Ethan Allen, the United States military post in Vermont, and with the commandant every law-abiding citizen heartily concurs. Discipline must be maintained or, forsooth, a gang of brawlers will be controlling the United States army and endangering the lives and destroying the peace of the people within a radius of several miles of the post. Things have got to a pretty pass when the mutinous times of Saturday night and Sunday are allowed to continue. Those things are only incidents in a long line of disgraceful episodes that have given this military post a bad name, and which have painted Burlington and the surrounding towns a vermillion hue. Burlington has submitted gracefully to the humiliation, doubtless with the conviction that some good things come high-priced. But that city seems to be powerless to check the lawlessness of the roughs who make the city the scene of their orgies, and act after act of criminality are recorded as being done "by a soldier." The disgrace of attaching the name of "soldier" and particularly a United States soldier to a set of men who are so lost to the sense of lawfulness! But the whole garrison of the post should not be painted black, for there is undoubtedly a decent class of men who carry the acts of their companions in arms. Unfortunately for this respectable class they are made to suffer in reputation through the doings of their associates. And if these things continue, the decent men will be driven from the service; they will refuse to be classed with the "toughs."

So the assertion that the discipline of the post "must be maintained" will be welcomed by all who love order and by those who have a regard for the well-being of the United States army. If the officer in command is not able to maintain it there is need for an investigation by the war department, but the commandant ought to be able to control the riotous men. These men complain of strictness. Strictness and a firm hand are what they deserve and need. The lieutenant against whom they appear to have an especial grudge for his strictness, may be an exacting disciplinarian, but we have the conviction that he is no more exacting than the situation requires. Let the enlisted men realize that they are not in the service for pleasure, or for trouble until the proper time for trouble comes.

Thermometers.
It is wise when purchasing a thermometer to test it by inverting it and allowing the mercury to fall to the end in a connected mass. If it separates into two or more parts the tube contains air and will not register accurately.

A SOUTHERNER'S GOOD FORTUNE

Sam Hoover Finds Something Better Than Gold Mines.

There is no happier man in this whole wide world to-day than Sam A. Hoover, of Greensboro, N. C., who is receiving the congratulations of his friends upon his fortunate find of something better than gold mines or oil wells. Mr. Hoover, in a letter to a friend in Barre, writes:

"Three months ago I was greatly distressed by nasal catarrh and entire deafness in the right ear. The labor of hawking and scraping to get my throat and nasal passages free from the foul secretions deposited there might be about equal to that of a six mile team with a road-scraper to get the earth from the roadside to the center."

"I purchased an outfit of Hyomei and Hyomei Balm, and as a result of its use my head, throat and nasal passages are all free from secretions of any sort, only as Nature designed, and my hearing in both ears is nearly as acute as it ever was."

There is no disagreeable stomach dosing in using Hyomei; just breathe it and its pure fragrance will kill the catarrhal germs in the head, throat and lungs. Hyomei Balm, used in connection with Hyomei, will cure the worst case of catarrhal deafness.

The complete outfit costs but $1.00, and extra bottles are only 50 cents. Ask Rickett & Wells to show you the strong guarantee under which they sell Hyomei. It costs nothing unless it cures.

Air Plants.

The air plants of South Africa, which are fastened by the slenderest roots to the ground or rocks, live entirely on any moisture they may draw from the air and will grow and bloom for months in a house without any water.

OPPORTUNITIES.

Opportunities come to most men at some time in their lives. But how many are there who are prepared to take advantage of them? An opportunity usually means a money investment. It is necessary that a man have a little capital. The boy who acquires the saving habit—who saves steadily and persistently—will be prepared to accept his opportunity when it comes to him.

Suppose you save $5.00 each month. Deposit it in the "GRANITE" at three per cent. In a year you will have to your credit $60.97. In five years, $323.81. In ten years, $699.58. The possession of $700.00 has enabled many a man to take advantage of a business opening that has started him upon a successful career. If others, why not you?
